

Contractions 2

by Kathleen Wiley

In contractions when you're using them, remember you are losing part of words...
The apostrophe will show you , where the letters you throwing out occurs....
So when looking at words maybe something's missing if you see apostrophes....
But this little song help you so let's sing along and all learn it with ease...

I've means I have

You've means you have

We've means we have

They've means they have

I'm means I am

He's means he is and he has

She's means she is and she has

I'll means I will.

You'll means you will

We'll means we will

He'll means he will

She'll means she will

They'll means they will

We're means we are

You're means you are

They're means they are

I'd means I would and I had

We'd means we would and we had

He'd means he would and he had

She'd means she would and she had

You'd means you would and you had

They'd means they would and they had

Now we believe that we have all the contractions there are !!!

So now you've learned CONTRACTIONS and you see that your reactions are superb...

In deciding if to use CONTRACTIONS you don't have to think or be perturbed...

For the choice to use CONTRACTIONS or to not....shows individuality.....

So let's use them or let's not...but we have surely learned a lot, don't you agree?
