

The Dinosaur Song

by Kathleen Wiley

Tyrannosaurus Rex
With big muscles he could flex
Went strolling through the park one day...
He meant Little Brontosaurus
Just emerging from the forest
And he said "Can you come out to play?"

But Little Brontosaurus
Who'd been singing in a chorus
Said, "My mommy said I can't play with you...
Because if I do we'll fight
And then you'll take a great big bite
And then I'll end up as a brontosaurus stew."

So Little Brontosaurus
Went back singing with his chorus
And the music floated to young Rex's ear
And he wanted so to hear it
But when he tried to get near it
They all turned and ran 'cause they were full of fear.

So Tyrannosaurus Rex
Caused his throat muscles to flex
And he just stood still and harmonized
And his voice had such a sweet sound
That they listened and were spellbound
It was beautiful and they were so surprised!!!

So Little Brontosaurus
Whose first name was really Boris
Thought he'd try to make the world a better place
He extracted quite a promise
From the Rex whose name was Thomas
That the rexes never ever would give chase...

The Tyrannosaurus Rexes
Said "Our muscles are reflexes
But we promise that we won't use them on you..
We just so enjoy singing
That we'll send our vices winging
And we can't abide a brontosaurus stew.."

So the Rexes and the Sauruses
Spend time in singing choruses
Of all their favorite songs and tunes and enjoy it!!!
You should be singing too. Why don't you?
